

01-Dec-2011

BHEL further consolidates in the CIS region, Forays into Ukraine with maiden order for Steam Turbine Package

Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited (BHEL) has made its maiden entry in the Ukrainian market with an order for a Steam Turbine Generator (STG) package. The contract for 27 MW STG package has been placed on BHEL by one of the World's leading steel majors, ArcelorMittal group. Valued at nearly Rs.400 Million, the power generating equipment will meet the Captive Power requirements of ArcelorMittal's steel plant at Kryviy Rih in Ukraine. BHEL's scope of work in this contract includes design, engineering, manufacture, supply and supervision of erection and commissioning of 27 MW Steam Turbine & Generator Package including the state of the art Controls and Instrumentation (C&I). The project is to be executed by the company in a schedule of 18 months. The Steam Turbine Generators and the C&I systems are to be manufactured at the BHEL's Hyderabad plant and Electronics Division, Bangalore respectively. BHEL has been exporting power and industry segment products and services for approximately 40 years. Up to June, 2011, BHEL had cumulatively installed a capacity of over 8,500 MW outside India in 21 countries and approximately 5,200 MW in 19 countries under various stages of execution. Up to June, 2011, BHEL has exported products and services to more than 70 countries and is taking strides to become a global player by further enhancing its presence in international markets. With this order, BHEL has further consolidated its presence in Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS). BHEL has also set up a Marketing office at Almaty in Kazakhstan. Establishing its footprints across the CIS region, BHEL has earlier successfully executed several contracts for various products and services in Russia, Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan and Tajikistan. Presently, the company is executing a Gas Turbine based Combined Heat and Power Plant project in Belarus.

You are visiting a pop on the www.bhel.com

Powering Progress... Brightening Lives Touching Every Indian Home